

ABSTRACT

5 An MP3 player 10 is provided a security lock to prevent theft using a combination of the player keys 21-27. According to one embodiment in the event the authorized user forgets the code the player can provide a hint to the user of the security code for the user. According to another embodiment an unlock can be provided by a modem connection to the manufacturer.